Customer Interviews

How long have you been trading?
About six years.

What can you tell us about your recent experience with OmniTrader?

I am not a sophisticated trader. I started with a $23,000 account when I bought OmniTrader in May of 2003. I trade in blocks of 1000 shares and hold for short periods of 1 day to 30 days. From January 2nd to the 9th, I profited an additional $3,551 on 11 trades, all from OmniTrader picks. Without the assistance of OmniTrader, I would still be floundering to determine what stock to pick.

You mentioned you started in May 2003. How did you do that year?

Since I started using OmniTrader in May 2003, I have completed 152 trades with only 10 losing trades and 143 winning trades. The losses averaged $108 each trade, and the 143 winning trades averaged $175 each trade. This resulted in doubling my investment account in just nine months. I am extremely pleased, considering that I do not spend more than a few minutes each day on selecting and analyzing stock selections.

Additional comments?

I like the ability to compare signals from various strategies side by side, and the ability to update each strategy from the To Do list. I rely on only the buy signals from OmniTrader. I have not done any short selling, but maybe I will this year to see if I can increase my trading profits. My goal this year is to try to increase the average profit per trade, and to once more double my investment account.

OmniTrader users are finding more opportunities and in less time by using OmniTrader's automated features.

Here's a guided tour of these powerful features that only OmniTrader has!

Total Automation

OmniTrader is 100% Automated. Push ONE button, and OmniTrader will collect the data it needs, update the portfolio, analyze each symbol, and generate targeted buy and sell signals for each symbol in your list.

Focus List

The Focus List provides one convenient location from which to review charts and manage positions. Click any line to see the chart which fired the signal. The Focus List is a powerful, time-saving trade management feature.

The Trade Processor

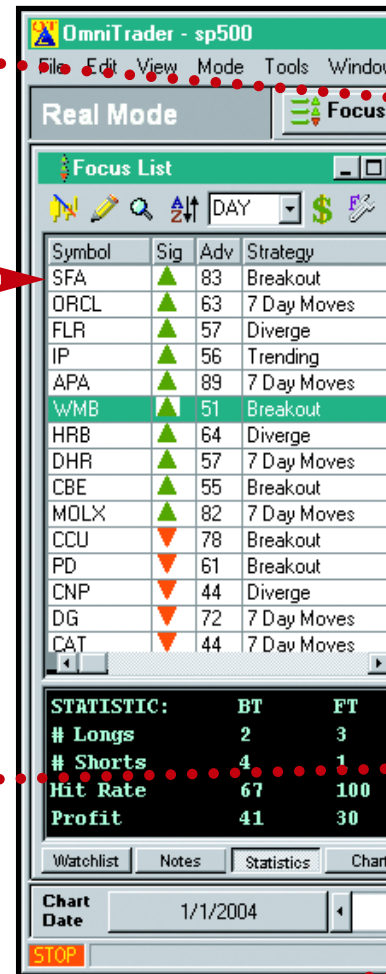

The Trade Processor tests multiple Trading Strategies on each individual chart, and only those strategies that are working well are used in the future. The result is higher quality, fully-automated buy and sell signals.

Multiple Strategy Voting

The Vote Line is the distillation of OmniTrader's massive analysis. The resulting signals, "voted" from all Strategies which have been activated, are shown along with their exits. Reports are available that show the profitability of the Vote Line.

Time Synchron

Time frames can be synchronized so that all charts pan and zoom at the same time. This makes it helpful to stack multiple charts and compare them - a fabulous feature for trading industry group rotations.

ul features

It's Automatic!

The best thing about OmniTrader is that it is completely automated. OmniTrader allows you to focus on your trading — not hours of analysis.

1. Put some symbols in the Focus List from the built-in stocks, futures or mutual funds database.
2. Press one button, and OmniTrader tests your symbols against each of our 120 trading systems.
3. In a matter of minutes, OmniTrader generates Buy and Sell Candidates for you to review, and the signals from each system are shown on the Vote Line and in the Focus List.

It's that easy.

Advanced Charts

Automatic Trading Assistants are provided for Trend Lines, Fibonacci Retracements, Support/Resistance Lines, and Candle Patterns. As these patterns are detected, lines are automatically generated with special "tags." Click a tag and the Assistant will display text that explains the pattern.

Advanced Tools

OmniTrader comes with a host of advanced charting features, including trend lines, a fibonacci calculator, and text annotation. Inserted text automatically scales with the charts.

Chart Book

The Chart Book is another important OmniTrader innovation. Define a "tab" for a select group of charts, and label it (such as, 'Banks'). Whenever you want to see the charts again, click the tab. Quick, easy and automatic.

System Information Display

OmniTrader is NOT a "black box" system. Every technique is exposed so you can understand precisely where the signals are coming from. The System Information Display below the chart lists all Strategies which are active, and displays their signals. You can alter the parameters of any Strategy, and create your own custom variations through the Strategy Flow Chart editor.

Plus, More Automation

OmniTrader has additional automated features that make the program easy to use. It automatically reads the four most popular data formats - MetaStock, Worden, AIQ, and CSI. It automatically tracks positions through the built-in portfolio. All of these features are designed for one goal - to help you trade profitably!

Customer Interviews

How much trading experience do you have?
I've been investing and trading for more than ten years.

What do you like about OmniTrader?
The ability to customize. Your systems and indicators are extremely accurate. Strategy filtering and the ability to combine strategies is very useful. Visual stops are appreciated too.

Can you share some recent trades?
Sure. Here are my latest trades, all of which are still open.

Symbol	Price	Last	G/L
AICX	1.79	2.71	+52%
PCSA	1.80	3.60	+100%
MGIC	5.14	7.15	+39%
EMKR	4.88	7.37	+51%

Any other comments?

Your tech support staff is awesome. Very helpful, willing to listen to suggestions and help me to clear up my problem very quickly which is greatly appreciated.

- Gary Metzger

How long have you been trading?
More than ten years.

What would you say is OmniTrader's greatest strength?

OmniTrader is "idiot proof." One can really see the flow of the market at a glance. All the trading strategies are in one window. I am an investor but I don't believe in buy and hold. I "buy and hold" just long enough to make a very good profit, which is the American way.

Can you share any recent trades?

I bought Novell (NOVL) 3 months ago and am now up over 120%.

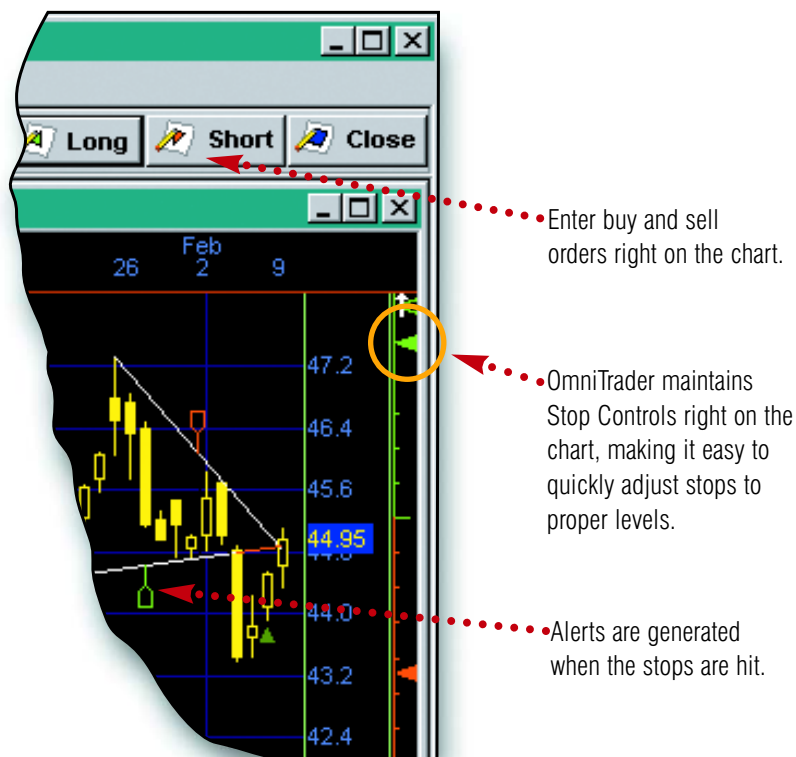

Have you been consistently profitable?

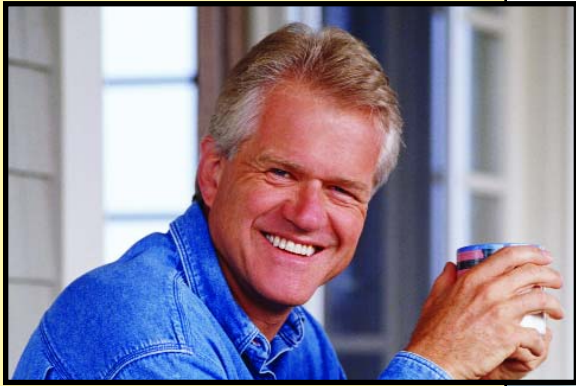

I am currently running about an 85% success rate. My broker wants me in nothing but mutual funds. No way; I am beating them with little effort. OmniTrader tells me when to buy and sell — pretty easy. Almost like having my own little trading machine, and I only do long trades.

- Fred Lord

The key to successful trading is managing your trades. Money management is built into OmniTrader.

Identifying profitable candidates is an important first step, but to trade successfully, you have to know when to get out of a trade. OmniTrader's Stop Control feature helps you establish exit points so you can manage your trades more effectively, and the unique Eighths Tool makes it easy to visualize where to set your stops and maximize profits.

Customer Interviews

How long have you been trading?
Not very long - about a year.

What do you like about OmniTrader?
I love the educational side of the program. An informed and educated investor will always have more success. I'm a soldier deployed to Iraq, so I've only been using the trading simulator. Before I left for Iraq, I was doing a good deal of options trading. I've recommended your program to many of my friends and I've been nothing but pleased with your product.

- Jonathan Crocker

Mike, you mentioned you started trading last year?

Yes, I started with OmniTrader 2003 and now have OmniTrader 2004.

What do you like about OmniTrader?
I really like the ease with which one can install the system and begin to immediately research stocks, test different strategies, and use it to actively trade. I like the multiple strategies, and really enjoy using the 7 Day Moves (strategy). The Trading Game is awesome for learning/testing, etc.

Can you share any recent success stories?
Just finished trading NIHD. Bought it at 72.49 and it went to 100.00 on Jan. 13th when the 7 Day Move fired a sell signal. That's $27.51 per share - my best trade to date!

- Mike Mitchell

Sharpen your trading skills with OmniTrader's simulators — The Trading Game and Lab Mode

The Trading Game

Only OmniTrader has trading simulators designed to help you build the confidence you need to trade successfully. The Trading Game simulates the market environment. A "bank" holds your trading capital, and an equity curve tracks your results against time. It's an engaging way to learn how to use the Buy and Sell signals, set stops, and react to what is happening. You learn the software as you gain the confidence you need to "pull the trigger" in real trading!

Lab Mode

Lab Mode enables you to simulate trading a portfolio of stocks, futures, or mutual funds. Using Lab Mode helps you increase your understanding of the value of managing a portfolio, while learning first-hand how to manage risk.

The Trading Game included with OmniTrader

There is no better tool to help you succeed in the market today.
